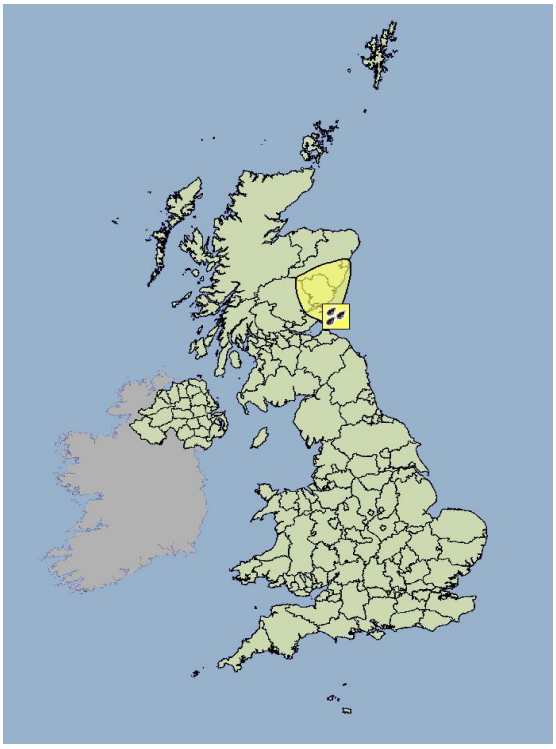
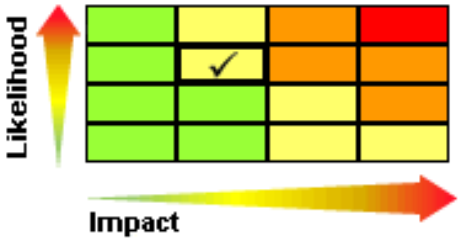
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An active cold front will cross from the west today. Some heavy and possibly thundery outbreaks are likely with the chance of 10 mm in an hour in places and perhaps locally 20-30 mm within a 6 hour period. However the showery nature of the rain means that some areas will miss the heaviest rain.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 11:00 on Thu, 08th Sep 2016 until 17:00 on Thu, 08th Sep 2016

A band of heavy rain will cross from the west today between mid morning and late afternoon, before clearing to more scattered showers again by evening.

Please be aware of the risk of some difficult travelling conditions and the possibility of some low level disruption due to surface water flooding.
